Coast Hi School Plans Get Rolling

Given the green light at the polls, Jefferson Union High School district trustees Monday night started the wheels in motion for the first Coastside high school in Sharp Park by 1960.

Long anxious to get official wherewithal on the project, the board:

1. Appointed two appraisers to immediately size up two additional parcels adjoining the site to speed the district's intent to increase the site to 50 acres.

2. Authorized architect Mario Clampi to begin plans for the school.

Not Required
Although appraisals of the two parcels are not required until the district goes on state aid, trustees took state representative Elwood Lehman's advice that it would be better to do so anyway. The district soon will go on a timetable schedule for $8 million in state assistance.

Currently the district has almost 30 acres in Sharp Park for the school. The two extra parcels, to be negotiated for as quickly as possible, will bring the site up to the standard, state-recommended 50 acres.

Supt. Edward D. Morgan said the additional acreage would be financed through bond money, with about $380,000 available for this purpose at present. By using bond funds, instead of reserves, the district will be able to remain at its present $1.35 tax rate.

State Help?

Morgan also indicated that the state is continuing to mull the disposition of state funds to school districts for purchase of school sites.

Chief concern on the Sharp Park site is planning by the state division of highways on its freeway or expressway in the area which definitely will affect the district's negotiations for the additional acreage. Right-of-way land for the state for either course will cut into the district's moves for the extra land.

Builder Ray Higgins, who holds an option one one of the parcels, has given Morgan a map of the property. Also, the division of highways should submit its recommendations on the freeway by next week, Morgan indicated.

Fourth School

Lehman, who has inspected the Linda Mar region with district officials, Friday recommended that the administration proceed immediately with its quest for a fourth high school site in the Pedro Valley area.

Lehman said the present Linda Mar site, one of five examined by the district, appears to be suitable, but he has requested additional information, such as road plans, transportation problems, communication, et cetera. Morgan is following this up with surveys on projected population there, accessibility of roads, and the like. Clerk Mrs. Anna Eason and (Continued on Page 2)

TEMPERS FLARE ON SCHOOL SITE, MAP

St. Francis Map Sparks Torrid Beef

Conflicting statements on maps and negotiations for three school sites in the proposed St. Francis Heights subdivision touched off one of the most explosive verbal exchanges in Jefferson Elementary School district history Wednesday night.

Parties in the rabid battle were outspoken trustee Hartley Appleton, backed by the administration; engineer Julius Castelan, and builder George McKeon.

The stormy tirade started when Appleton profusely hinted that something was wrong because "state officials Monday in Sacramento knew all about our proposed school sites in the subdivision even before we presented your (Castelan's) map to them."

Personal Feud?

Castelan, charging repeated abuse by Appleton, loudly denied the implication, claiming he finished the drawings on sites as requested Monday morning and "I brought them immediately to the district office."

Trustee Mike Callan then joined Appleton in the apparent accusation, asking Castelan if anyone else had seen the drawings.

The engineer snapped back, "I spent all last weekend working on them. No one outside the district has seen the tracings. I can substantiate this. Shapiro (assistant superintendent) will verify that I brought them in Monday morning."

And the assistant superintendent did.

But this didn't satisfy Superintendent H. Z. Weibel, Appleton, Callan, and even Shapiro. All indicated something was phony because the state officials "seem to know" all about the sites, claiming they'd seen a similar map.

Again Castelan stuck to his guns, declaring he had no knowledge of such procedure.

McKeon Target
Next implication was tossed at McKeon, perhaps that he had gotten hold of one of the district's maps and his father, Chris, had shown them to state officials.

The younger McKeon wasted no words. "This is entirely untrue. My father did consult with state officials, but he presented our maps. We've been getting rumors about us (Zita Corporation) that have no foundation."

"Also, under your plans you are asking about 60 or one third of our usable acres. And we can't build under this situation."

It was Appleton's turn again. His target—McKeon.

"Are you going to give us some sites?" he challenged.

"We have repeatedly said we will provide the sites," George snapped back, "but how

The county's free polio clinic at Daly City's War Memorial building Saturday morning attracted 1368 persons. THE RECORD learned today from Dr. James G. Roney, health officer.

Roney said 847 first, 176 second, and 345 third shots were administered here.

The county official extended praise to volunteer women and doctors who donated labors Saturday.

North County Dads Endorse Bocci

North County Council of Cities endorsed Municipal Judge Thomas L. Bocci for superior court at their meeting Thursday in South San Francisco.

The action was proposed by Daly City Councilman Del Wilson, who explained that his council had intended to endorse Bocci, but decided instead to send the governor personal letters.

Supervisor Thomas Callan of Colma had proposed that each city send a resolution to the governor, asking that the county's fifth superior judge reside in the north county. He made no specific recommendation for Bocci.

North county officials also studied a proposal to establish a single fire and police radio dispatching station to minimize duplication of services, as recommended in a recent Coro Foundation report.

A protest was forwarded to the county board of supervisors asking that property re-appraisals all be put into effect at the same time. A re-appraisal has just been completed in Daly City and will place the new evaluations on the tax books next year, whereas some south county cities may not be re-appraised for as long as five years.

JUHS Trustees Slate Busy Session Monday

Working overtime, Jefferson Union High School district trustees next Monday will convene in two special sessions to get pressing business out of the way.

By quirk of circumstance, their first item of business will be an adjourned confab to finish the postponed canvass of the bond and state aid election results.

Seems that one of the five absentee voters tore up his ballot, so by law, the district must wait until Monday to officially declare the returns "final." Stipulation is that the deadline for sending the re-checked tally to county officials is 16 days after the election. Although the fifth absentee ballot won't arrive, the board must stick to the deadline just the same.

Westmoor Report
In the special meeting to follow, trustees will hear a long-awaited report on Westmoor High progress from contractor Dick Meyer. A death in the family prevented him from appearing before trustees this week, to give an answer to the district's concern over his firm's ability to deliver the new school by June 24.

Superintendent Edward Morgan told trustees that Meyer or one of his staff would be on hand next week to comply with the request. The classrooms will be ready by the deadline date, Morgan said he was assured, but the gymnasiums remain the big problem. Anyway, Meyer will give the lowdown Monday.

Monday's session also will find trustees taking action of bids for Westmoor and Jefferson equipment and furniture, which must be obtained by this summer.

The board approved bids in these categories amounting to some $54,000 Monday night in regular session.

Manager Target Of Kirchhubel

George Kirchhubel, tavern owner and outspoken critic of things governmental, especially City Manager Howard Stites, charged Monday that the $1,463,000 budget presented to the council last week was "just a gimmick to put across the sales tax."

"If you'd have gone to Redding (Stites' former place of employment) you'd have found the sales tax there," Kirchhubel related.

The tavern owner charged that after Stites came to Redding, the city taxes spiraled upward.

He declared Daly City's government "a mass of duplication. You've got a treasurer, director of finance, and auditor and an accounting department. When you hire Stites, he was supposed to be an engineer, but you hired another engineer. You made Stites a purchasing agent and then hired one. You bought old equipment and it was terrible." Kirchhubel also voiced another favorite complaint—that the city council did not publicly display demand warrants for payment of bills.

Charging that Stites was a "just a hand-me-down from the League of California Cities," Kirchhubel said the council "needs to take a look at their own selves to see what's wrong."

Stites replied, "I don't think his remarks justify comment." He added after the meeting that, "The people in Redding voted in the sales tax by a 2 1/2 to 1 margin. And the tax rate didn't change two cents while I was there."

HATCHET PROJECT: SPECIAL BUDGET SESSION MONDAY

A special city council session has been called for Monday night to discuss Daly City's whopping $1,463,000 city budget, submitted last week by City Manager Howard Stites. Nearly one quarter million dollars will have to be chopped from the figure to maintain the present tax rate of $1.48 per $100 assessed valuation.

Councilmen will start on the near-impossible whittling chore Monday, in what probably will be the first of several lengthy sessions before adoption of the budget in July or August.

Doelger Is Blasted On Basin Pact

With one trustee charging developer Henry Doelger with "an act of bad faith," the Jefferson Elementary School board, by 3-0 vote, Wednesday night angrily authorized immediate condemnation proceedings to obtain the controversial 18-acre Westlake Basin site.

Trustee Hartley Appleton, known for his vociferous outbursts, made the allegation after trustees learned that Doelger has granted options for purchase of the site to the Dominican College of San Rafael at a proposed price of $374,000.

Surprise Letter

Doelger's revelation came in a letter to the board Wednesday night, a shocker because just that afternoon the board and the administration apparently were proceeding with the long-delayed negotiations.

According to Superintendent H. Z. Weibel, Doelger in the afternoon met, expressed willingness to investigate giving the district part of the basin property and a small parcel of land for a JESD administration unit north of Lake Merced boulevard across from the basin site. Under this course of action, Doelger would have been able to build at least some of his "best" housing units on part of the plush (Continued on Page 2)

Trustees Okay Jeff High Safety Check By State

Declaring that an "impasse" has been reached, Jefferson Union High School district trustees Monday night halted all renovation planning on the old Jefferson High plant and moved to call in the state division of architecture to make a structural safety survey of the school.

Their action came on after stern words from Superintendent Edward D. Morgan, claiming "we have no other choice." "Despite our own surveys, including the fire marshal's report and the checks following the quake, we still don't know how structurally safe the old school is," Morgan declared. "The state will come in and determine if the school meets basic requirements under the field act of 1933."

"With the state report before us," Morgan continued, "we can do one of two things, depending on their conclusions. First, we can go along with present renovation plans, or call in engineers and the architect to see how much it would cost to make the improvements as outlined by the state survey."

Morgan then said trustees would have to decide which would be better — to renovate the plant completely, or demolish sub-par parts of the school.

"It all depends on what is most feasible considering the expense involved," he continued. "If it's cheaper to renovate it, the state will provide the funds. If we discover it's too costly, we can abandon the defective areas and the state will allow us more square footage funds to replace the lost area. Any way, we won't lose in either case."

Halted by trustees' authorization of the state survey were the district's work on the fire marshal's report, replacement of roofing (shaken loose by quake), and lighting and communication plans. The dangerous tile roofing, however, is being replaced immediately.

Tragedy Hits Parents Second Time, Baby Dies

A six-months old infant, ill since birth, choked to death Thursday morning, despite efforts by firemen to revive the child with a resuscitator.

James Thomas Orsborn, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Orsborn, 84 Alexander, was pronounced dead on arrival at Junipero Serra hospital.

The hysterical mother, Martha, whose husband is at sea with the merchant marine, told police officer John Coleman that the infant had been sick the night before and was "breathing funny."

When the child began choking at 10:52 she summoned police, who alerted firemen. Captain Frank Specht operated the resuscitator in the police car as the child was sped to the hospital.

Coleman said the baby appeared near death when he arrived. Mrs. Orsborn told Coleman that young James was born with a collapsed lung.

For the Orsborns, it was the second time they had lost an infant child, the other death occurring 12 hours after the baby was born.

Exact cause of death had not been determined yesterday. Coroner's report is pending.

Move To Outlaw Auctions

Legislation to prevent "outsiders" from bringing in distressed merchandise to sell at auction "at the expense of local merchants," was called for by the city council Monday night.

Commenting on an auction held here recently, Councilman Paul Hupf said it was "highly undesirable to permit these people to dump distressed merchandise here at the expense of local merchants."

He held that it was all right for a local merchant to close out his stock, "but not to bring in material from outside."

Councilmen concurred, and directed City Attorney Frank Blum to draw up an ordinance which would prohibit "importing" merchandise for sale at an auction within the city limits.

Other Action

In other action Monday, the council:

1. Asked for a report from the Jefferson Elementary School district on the extent to which it would participate in the improvement of Market street in front of the Colma school. Other adjacent property owners have agreed to share cost of the project with the city. Market was declared a major city street by the council, entitling the city to gas tax funds for maintenance of the road.

Three Hurt In Skyline Auto Crash

An elderly Sharp Park man was hospitalized with serious injuries Wednesday evening in a three-car smash-up at Coast Highway-Skyline intersection in Westlake. Two passengers in the other vehicles were treated for minor hurts.

Taken to Junipero Serra hospital with a broken collar bone and possible concussion was Frank Walter Lometti, 470 Carmel avenue, 62, a teamster.

Police said Lometti was traveling west on Alemany boulevard when his vehicle collided with one driven south on Skyline by William Averill Forsyth, 40, Redwood City.

A third car, driven by Agnes Maloney of San Francisco, was stopped on Coast Highway waiting to proceed south and was struck by Forsyth's caroming vehicle.

Mrs. Maloney's four-year-old son, Michael, was treated at Junipero Serra hospital for bruises, as was Jane W. Forsyth, 32, a passenger in her husband's auto. Both were released after treatment.

Pending further investigation, no citations were issued.

Doelger Is Blasted On Basin Pact

But Doelger indicated in the letter that "within the last 10 days I have entered into a contract with the Dominican College, a corporation, giving it options to lease two parcels on basin site land at $20,000 per acre."

Doelger's announcement stunned trustees since they claimed no knowledge of the option arrangement. All they knew was that Doelger had said before — "several bona fide offers from other parties were being considered."

Weibel told THE RECORD that Doelger's asking price from the school district on the site in the afternoon meeting was about $15,000 per acre. But since the state early in May authorized just $204,200 to purchase the site, Doelger's bid was too high. Under state aid, the district would have been able to buy the property at approximately $12,000 an acre.

State Recommends Pressing for an immediate decision, the state bureau of school planning finalized its stand on the site in a letter to Weibel on May 23.

Hinting at Doelger's indecision, the state urged the district "to proceed with purchase of the entire area as outlined in the application presented to the allocations board."

Elwood Lehman, author of the letter, continued: "It is our opinion that this (basin site) is the most suitable and possibly the last site for a suitable administration unit for the district."

Citing that the Stanford survey last year predicts by 1960 a need for 24 regular classrooms and three kindergartens to house approximately 857 children and that not other children and that no other suitable site is available in this area (north of Alemany), Lehman said the bureau of school planning recommends two schools on the site. He befooled this with the fact that 1100 additional apartment house units are planned in the area, meaning the total requirement by 1960 would be 36 classrooms.

Park Facilities The state spokesman also added that Westlake park recreation facilities might be used to accommodate children at these two schools if the district can acquire title to a portion of the park. This arrangement would allow the state to reduce the basin site acreage for both schools.

Appleton, joined by chairman Mrs. Katherine Mullen and Mrs. Doris Wimberly in approving condemnation, said the course was "the district's district's fleet of 10. Gist of the controversy was whether the two additions, estimated to cost about $40,000, would be an excessive expenditure, and possibility was aired that it might be better to contract a private company to provide the extra service.

"We've got a job to do. Our needs are apparent. Statistics show that. Perhaps some sort of settlement can be reached with Doelger after all. But this condemnation business has got to be done now."

Trustees Michael Callan and Joseph Lewkowitz abstained when moved on the condemnation motion.

Citizens Heard Two members from the audience further enlivened Wednesday's heated meeting when they questioned trustees on the basin site.

Paul Hupf, city councilman but speaking for Our Lady of Mercy parish, wondered if there was such a great need for the site. He cited that the parish's expansion program, eight more classrooms by next year and possibly 24 in all by the early 1960's, should be considered.

Claiming that Westlake is about 45 per cent Catholic, almost 50 per cent in the basin site area, he maintained that many of the children in the north of Alemany section would be going to OLM. Hupf also said a Dominican high school, serving all of North San Mateo county, is contemplated. And diocesan officials, will need a site in Westlake, he pointed out.

Hupf continued that Catholic institutions would serve the entire JESD and JUHS district, bringing a definite saving to taxpayers.

Reiterating OLM enrollment projections and the high school outlook, the councilman then asked if expansion of current JESD sites could be effected as an alternative to the basin site.

Trustees briefly reminded him that district needs are sound, based on current student population and projections.

'Clarify' Situation Another speaker, Mrs. Jane Keith, housewife with two children, wanted more facts on the basin "to clarify a few questions of many citizens."

After asking about transportation plans, enlarging other schools, other possible sites, and legitimacy of the basin site needs, she was abruptly cut off by Appleton and Mullen, and asked to submit her questions in writing for board consideration at a later date.

In another condemnation move, trustees unanimously ordered a resolution of necessity from the district attorney for the new General Pershing school site on Hanover street in Daly City. They are expected to approve condemnation at their next meeting. Some 43 homeowners are involved, with Appleton declaring that "negotiations to date with these people have been futile."

Funds Approved Last Thursday, the state allocations board okayed the district's request of $460,199 for purchase of the site. Request for funds on the seven-classroom addition at Benjamin Franklin school and two classrooms at Jefferson school will be considered by the state on June 14, Weibel reported.

can we right now when we don't even know how much property we own."

McKeon was referring to a litigation suit over the subdivision area, involving his firm, Henry Doelger, and Michael Callan. The latter parties have small parcels in the original 334-acre area. This statement has set back McKeon's plans for 2500 homes and the three school sites at least a year.

McKeon replied, "It's impossible to provide a formula now. But we'll provide the sites as we've indicated earlier. Your request of a price per acre formula can't be met at present."

Appleton then denied his earlier statements about the price per acre stipulation. "We are not asking for a price per acre, just a formula for getting the sites."

This threw McKeon. "Apparently there's been a big misunderstanding. You definitely asked for a price per acre deal in talks with us. We've explained that this is impossible under the circumstances. We've been willing to go along with the three sites on the state formula basis. But price per acre? Hardly! It can't be done, and you know it."

Another Accusation Appleton then hinted that McKeon and his father hadn't been too cooperative, especially when the city council heard both parties on the school sites.

McKeon refuted this, citing that "we have always been ready to work out this situation, providing we have all the facts and this suit is settled."

Board chairman Katherine Mullen interrupted that "developers are always taking school districts."

McKeon asked the board to look at his firm's record. "We have built all over Northern California and we haven't yet had any complaints about our willingness to provide school sites. We want to take care of the children in our subdivisions as far as schools are concerned."

As for McKeon's alleged sympathy in wanting to negotiate, the builder stated that he had been to three recent board meetings. "Last time I was here, it was past 11 o'clock before I was noticed. Again, I say we have and are willing to work with you people."

Weibel confirmed that McKeon had sought time on the agenda in the past. But the superintendent asked if Chris McKeon, George's father, could appear at the next board meet June 12.

"I speak for my father. Besides, he's a sick man. But we are agreeable to work things out."

Callan suggested that McKeon bring rough drawings with recommendations on the sites to the next meeting. George said he would.

Again, Appleton got after Castelan, with the crowd swinging behind the bewildered engineer, applauding his stand.

"You have been hired by us to survey the subdivision and recommend sites, that's all," Appleton blurted. "You've apparently done more than that."

Specific Job Appleton and Callan remarked that Castelan's instructions were to recommend three sites, two each of 10 acres for K-6 schools, and a third, from 20 to 25 acres, for a 7-8 school. "You've taken more than this," said Appleton. Castelan said he had to because of the grading and slope problems. "It's impossible to fellow trustees Elio Fontana and Ray Whitney suggested the district investigate still more Coastside sites.

Good Site Morgan replied that all available sites would be considered, reminding that the Sharp Park site, in particular, was a good piece of land, even considering the freeway problem.

Whitney even tabbed the Sharp Park golf course as a likely possibility, citing its desirable flat nature and beauty of location.

OUR TURN: MAJOR LEAGUE BALL

San Mateo county's inertia in the quest to attract major league baseball here reminds us of the Little Jack Horner story.

Two weeks ago, after San Francisco Mayor George Christopher had already pulled out the plum, San Mateo county stuck in its thumb, said, "What a good boy am I."

San Mateo county's 11th hour telegram appeal to the major leagues to locate their baseball properties on the ideal site adjacent to the Fiesta Grounds was just about a year too late.

It's timing coincided with Christopher's visit to the big league moguls, providing an ill wind that blew no one good, paraphrasing Christopher's comments.

Sure, we'd like to see major league ball come to San Francisco.

But we'd much rather see it located in San Mateo county, where everybody, including San Francisco, would prove to be the richer in the long run.

In an exclusive interview last week with Joe Sarto, San Mateo county's greatest patron of baseball, we pointed out the multiple advantages of locating a major league ball park in the sunny climes of San Mateo county.

The county has the land, 85 acres if necessary, the climate (San Francisco's biggest drawback), transportation, parking, easy accessibility and the population.

The only thing this county apparently lacks is the wherewithal to sell these ideas to the men from Gotham who make the decisions.

Next year we all may have the opportunity to root for the "New York" Giants as the home town team, not in the shadows of Bay Meadows, but in the fog of Seals Stadium.

That is unless San Mateo county can reach in that puddin' pie with something else besides its thumbs.

THIS SUNDAY

Big Spectacle To Mark Colma Field Dedication

All the fanfare will be involved this Sunday afternoon when Hillside Improvement Club and scores of civic and school officials join together to dedicate the athletic field at Colma school, Market and Hillside boulevard.

Preceding the ribbon cutting by members of the Jefferson Elementary School district board, a sizeable parade will be held. The parade begins at 1 o'clock at Market and Mission streets, and will proceed down Market to Orange, then to the field.

Marchers will consist of Daly City's own National Guard unit and their color guard, the International Longshoremen's drum corps (with Betty Jane Luca as majorette), Cub Packs 62, 184, 244, 353, 999, and Scout Troop 243.

The Colma school band, attired in new uniforms, will play several selections. Highlight of the day will be the annual championship soft ball game between the Garden Valley and Callan Heights adults.

School representatives scheduled to be present are Superintendent H. Z. Weibel, and trustees Mrs. Katherine Mullen, Mrs. Doris Wimberly, Joseph Lewkowitz, Hartley Appleton and Mike Callan. City councilmen and other municipal officials have been invited, according to Don Leshner, H.I.C. president. Gateway Chevrolet is donating cars for the parade.

"Everyone is invited to attend," Leshner told THE RECORD.

MISBEHAVEN CLUB SETS BIG DANCE SATURDAY NIGHT

Members of Daly City's Misbehaven Teen Club return to War Memorial building this Saturday night for a festive "Graduation Dance," city director of parks and recreation Dee R. Van Nest announced today.

Especially invited are all graduates (past and to be) of Daly City, who will be honored guests at the event. All grads and teen clubbers will get in free, while others must pay 25 cents.

Dancing begins at 8 and concludes at 11 o'clock. Hosts and hostesses will be on hand to encourage the shy.

Music will be sounded by the Jerry Starr combo, supplemented by the teen club's king-sized juke box. Refreshments will be served.

City recreation personnel, sponsoring the affair, will provide complete supervision.

OFFICERS GEAR 'CITY OF HOPE' FUND CAMPAIGN

Governor Goodwin J. Knight and Mayor George Christopher of San Francisco this week joined the growing list of notables taking part in the annual "City of Hope Month"—June, in California.

In a colorful ceremony, Mayor Christopher proclaimed Thursday June 6, Hope Thursday in San Francisco.

Mrs. Christopher is honorary chairman of the San Francisco City of Hope Volunteer Neighbors, a group of 3,000 men and women who will conduct a door-to-door fund-raising campaign on June 6.

Chairmen in the Daly City area working directly under Mrs. Christopher are: Mrs. S. Sankowich, Mrs. M. Pella, Mrs. Z. Lieberman and Mrs. Michael Lawrence.

These chairmen still need volunteers. Anyone who would like to help is requested to phone the chairman in his area or contact the City of Hope, 12 Geary street, YU 6-3712.

In his proclamation, Governor Knight said:

"The City of Hope has welcomed free of charge patients from all over our State and all over the nation, who suffer from cancer, leukemia, heart, and tuberculosis afflictions, without regard to race, creed, or national origin. Their outstanding services are financed solely through the generous support of all the people. It is an honor for our Golden State to be the home of such a truly charitable and scientific organization."

GOODWILL FOLKS WARN RESIDENTS ON PHONY CALLS

Officials of Goodwill Industries of San Francisco, which includes San Mateo and Marin counties, warn householders receiving phone calls in the name of Goodwill, soliciting cast-off clothing and other articles, that they are being imposed upon and duped.

Innumerable calls from an anonymous woman have disturbed residents of the Daly City area and the Crocker-Amazon-Outer Mission district, asking that contributions be placed outdoors for early morning pickup. Some of the calls have been placed as late as 10:30 at night, resulting in indignation calls to Goodwill Industries from protesting citizens.

With the exception of one wheel chair case in San Mateo county, Goodwill Industries makes no telephone solicitations, and no calls are made after 4 p.m. Evening calls should be ignored.

NEW Daly City Rotary Club president Ted Harris, manager of First Western bank, is congratulated by outgoing Rotary prexy Rudolph Richter (left) following recent election of officers.

4 More Jefferson High Seniors Reap Rewards

Despite the inflexibility of double sessions, Jefferson High seniors this week continued to pile up awards and scholarships.

Latest to hit the jackpot, according to Miss Ada Wood, dean of girls, and John Ivan, dean of boys, are:

1. Alda Caggiano, San Francisco State-bound editor of the "Totem Pole." She will be honored this Saturday night at Peninsula Social Club as one of three San Mateo County high school winners of $500 scholarships, sponsored by Italian-American Federation. According to Dan Casentini, of IAF, Miss Caggiano rated "first" in ability and personality with the panel, consisting of municipal judges, Alda, whose parents live at 848 Beechwood drive, Colma, intends to major in journalism.

2. Marilyn Delbon, of Brisbane, president of senior class and holder of student body's highest academic average. Headed for University of California to major in education, she has been awarded scholarships from that institution and the San Mateo County Teachers' association. Marilyn's many distinctions include a Bank of America plaque for social science knowledge, "Good Citizen" citation by the Daughters of the American Revolution, and serving as girls state representative of the American Legion Auxiliary.

3. Ray Navara, 145 Flournoy street, all-around academic standout, also due to enroll this fall at UC. He has been rewarded by the University of California and the California State Scholarship Committee.

4. Karen Gerdes, future student at San Jose State college, where she will major in business. Her backer is the San Mateo County Teachers' Association. Karen, coming to Jeff as a junior, is a member of the Block J, vice president of the Junior Statesmen, and served as president of the Spanish Club. She also is active on the senior committee and performed in "Taming of the Shrew."

Vote Date Switch Warms Lewkowitz

Joseph Lewkowitz, Jefferson Elementary School district trustee, is busting buttons today.

Four years ago when he joined the board, he "fathomed" the idea that school elections should be on Tuesday instead of the present state-wide schedule of Friday balloting.

This week, Lewkowitz was informed by James Torney, county superintendent of schools, that AB 376 (changing school elections to Tuesdays throughout California) has been passed by the State Senate. Final approval is expected shortly.

Lewkowitz maintains the Tuesday schedule is better because more people will turn out earlier in the week. Also, there's the matter of bar and tavern owners. With elections on Friday, business falls off, meaning that revenue going to schools from alcoholic beverage taxes slackens. More so than if the Tuesday elections were authorized, at least.

PERSONALITY SKETCH...

We heard the gay laughter as we entered the room. Surrounded by admiring guests, she held the interest of the entire group as she related amusing incidents in her exciting career. Vivacious and charming, lovely Polly Bergen captured our admiration, too, as she took our hand in a firm friendly grasp. One of the country's top vocalists, and leading television and motion picture actress, she was recently signed to a long-term contract with CBS television.

We discovered a delightfully warm genuine quality about the glamorous star as we talked about the coming dramatic program, and her family. She is so proud of her 10-year-old daughter, Kathy. We questioned her about the little girl and whether or not she planned a theatrical career for her. Her eyes sparkling, Polly laughingly said she hoped not, but added if that was what Kathy wanted she would not stand in her way.

RADIO BRIEFS...

A new personality on KGO radio is Ernie Simon, who comes to the bay area from Chicago where he was rated as one of the top broadcasting performers for more than 10 years. He will be featured in two daily programs.

An anniversary for "Point of Law," five-minute dramatized legal situation program, which last week began its third year of continuous broadcasting over KCBS at 5:55 p.m., Monday through Saturday.

AWARDS... "Science in Action" (KRON-TV, 7 p.m., Mondays), with Dr. Earl Herold of Westlake as host, has collected another award to add to its long list... "The Silver Anvil Award," presented by the American Public Relations Association for excellence in public relations.

KQED also was honored recently by being top winner of "The Ohio State Awards," capturing three national honors—two first and one honorable mention for its programs, "Hop, Skip and Dance," "Personal and Social Adjustment" and "The American Economy."

Village Notes By Gwin Mitchell

It's time to wind up things for the season again, and to clear the notebook and lock up the typewriter. Before leaving for the summer, we found the following sundry bits of information:

Kenneth and Linda Delfino of Washington both made their first communion a Sunday or so ago, and, in addition, Linda had an 8th birthday to celebrate, so one of the famous Delfino parties for the younger set filled the house to overflowing with exuberant small fry and slightly bewildered adults. Guests were Jeff Meitz, Laurie Bobbitt, Carmel Navarro, Tommy Bocci, Charlotte, Jerry and Janet Langenegger, Linda Bram, Mary Smith, Stephanie Mischak, Ellen Olman, Ellen Asenedo, Debbie Parks, Marcia Kane, Steven O'Brien, Cathy Miceli, Ricky, Barbara and Kathy Ganter, Linda Fitzgerald, Cecilia and Christopher Beloy, Steven Sterling, Ginger Delfino, and Jack, Donny, Chrissie and Nancy Mitchell.

Not to be outdone, another Washingtonian, Ronnie Kravetz, held a graduation party for his fellow eighth graders at Colma school. Dancing was the order of the evening, with plenty of refreshments, naturally, and Donna Dennis, Judy Milly, Sharon Fillo, Velma McGar, John Guz, Michael Cheda, Ken Magoon, Bill Hix, Bruce Howard, John Sarro, and John Hess were the guests who enjoyed themselves thoroughly.

Stork's Dividends Kindergarten registration will boom in 1962, thanks to spring dividends the stork has been bringing lately. Total right now is nine, with the girls leading six to three.

Sweetwood is the luckiest street, with three new babies being welcomed there. Laura Marie Shales, 6 lbs. 6 oz. is a first baby for happy parents Barbara and Ed, and Ann Marie Surabian, 7 lbs. 3 oz. is also a first small one. Phyllis' parents, the Lyle Culps, came down from Washington to meet their new girl, and so did Phyllis' nephew, Jerry Heichel. The third Sweetwood arrival is a boy, Douglas Stephen Baxter, 6 lbs. 6 oz. He is the fourth young Baxter for parents Eleanor and Jack, with sister Nancy Jean and brothers Robert Lloyd and Brent George on the welcoming committee.

Up on the hill, Beechwood is the new home of Marianne Wardell, 7 lbs. 1 oz. who is the fourth girl for Vera and Bob. Diane, Patricia and Deborah are the big sisters. Thornhill has new resident Kenneth R. Napoletano, 7 lbs. 14 oz. young brother of David and Steven, and special property of proud parents Richard and Dolores. Not to be outdone, Larchmont welcomed Brian Kent Dinkel, 7 lbs. 9 oz., who has brother David Stanley and sister Terri Anne to make him feel at home, to say nothing of parents Eloise and Stanley.

Three more girls are living on Wildwood, Foothill and Maddux, respectively. They are: Linda Marie Harvey, 6 lbs. 2 oz., welcomed by parents Virginia and Allen and very happy sister Marilyn Jean; Darcy Lee Scott, 7 lbs. even, the delight of brothers Greg and Jeff, and especially of parents Elsie and Jack; Glynis Ann Heisenbuttel, 7 lbs. 12 oz., whose brothers John and William are very happy about the arrival, and whose parents, Mary Ann and Don, are equally so. Mary Ann told us that there are five generations living on her side of the family.

More Parties Up on Bradley Patti Eassa turned 7, and had a celebration to prove it. Friends and neighbors who arrived to enjoy games and refreshments were Marilyn Durnham, Mary Joe Miles, Randy Chernock, Ley Elliott, Judy McDonald, Lyn and Miquette Magnusson, Jackie and Cecilia Murrish, and Gary, Bobby and Eddie Eassa.

The Eassas are a busy family. Soon after Patti's party, Eddie was to be baptized, and Patti's mother was full of plans for having relatives up from Los Angeles. Not only that, Bobby had his tonsils out, which kept his mother busy bringing ice cream, etc.

Louaine's Michael Buell had a birthday, too. He turned 6, and had an Indian party, which was a great hit with all his friends. There was a tepee on the cake and movies and games and all the other things which go with birthday parties. Guests included brother Dennis Buell, Greg Florio, Linda Volens, Christy Meushaw, Jan Rizzo, Dickie Hammond, Patti War-moth, Linda Cline, and Ronnie Serruti.

Right after she gave Mike his party, mother Norma Buell went to the Canyon sanitarium in Redwood City, where she must stay for a while. Notes and cards from friends here at home might make her time there happier and seem shorter.

We hope it won't be too long before she's back, well and happy.

In addition to having a new baby brother in the family, Sweetwood's Nancy Jean Baxter also had a 9th birthday, complete with party, gifts and guests. Enjoying the occasion with her were Carolyn and Michelle Butten, Linda, Allen and Mary Ann Toschi, Fay, Donny and Ethan Smith, Debbie Parks, Janice Murphy, Patsy Phillips, Lynn MacCarthy, and Ronnie Smith. Brothers Robert and Brent Baxter were there too, of course.

Around and About Ran into ex-Villager Verna Duste down at Burlingame the other day. She is now editor of Seventeen, the 17th District PTA publication. She told us that son Mark had broken his arm and was also due to have his tonsils out. Always something.

St. Michael's Moms Fete New Officers The final meeting of the school term of St. Michael's Mothers club to be held on June 10, at 8 p.m. in the school auditorium will be a social, honoring new officers.

Past presidents and former members are invited to attend. Executive board members are in charge of the affair. A program is being planned by the committee. Refreshments will be served.

Move To Outlaw Auctions (Continued from Page 1) partment a request by Fred Vollers, 290 Chester, that stop signs be erected on several intersections in Callan Heights.

3. Asked for a report June 5 on advisability of purchasing private property at 3 and 5 Wellington avenue for municipal use.

OK Cul de Sac 4. Agreed to construct cul de sac at end of Garibaldi street, providing property owners are in favor of the project. Earlier the council turned down a request to extend the street through to Hillside boulevard at city expense. The cul de sac would cost $806.

5. Heard request from Councilman Michael De Bernhardt to "expedite" improvements to the water system. He questioned Public Works Director Otis Calhoun about two wells that had been shut down.

6. Directed City Manager Howard Stiles to set up meeting date with Henry Doleger to discuss acquisition of a recreation site in Westlake.

Water For School 7. Heard request from Joe Kaplan of Ted Tronoff civil engineer that the city supply water at a reduced rate for a sprinkling system to be installed at Benjamin Franklin school in Broadmoor. Pipelines would have to be extended to tie in the Daly City system with the school.

8. Appropriated $200 to pay for circulating of petitions in southeastern Daly City in an effort to remove homes in that area from the Broadmoor Police district tax roll.

9. Set hearing June 24 on proposed rezoning of four Westlake parcels to commercial status.

10. Denied use permit for Patricia Cann to teach piano lessons in her home, 180 North Mayfair.

CD Center 11. Approved agreement with sanitation district for temporary civil defense control center at sewage treatment plant.

12. Approved business license for Robert Baker to operate used car lot at 7338 Mission street.

13. Held over request from C. M. Boyington to conduct business as junk dealer.

14. Introduced ordinances annexing Pierce, Van Winkle and Patten tract; approving garbage contract with Daly City Scavenger Co., establishing director of finance as collector of business licenses instead of police chief.

15. Tabled ordinance governing housemoving through city limits.

16. Appointed Sanford Vickers council representative to San Mateo County Development association.

17. Approved continuing city health plan with Kaiser, despite an increase in rates.

18. Established stop intersection at Lynnewood and Southgate.

19. Formally appointed Melford Battye and Albert Polonsky to personnel board.

20. Adopted resolution establishing two-hour parking on portions of School street.

B'moor Lad Eyes 'Olympics' For Deaf

Nebraska-born John Tingley Jr. of Broadmoor will broaden his horizons this summer when he journeys to Europe—all for free.

Thanks to a San Francisco newspaper, the local lad, 20, will be rewarded for his talents come August. The daily last week wrapped up a fund-raising drive to pay John's passage to the International Games for the Deaf in Milan, Italy, August 25-31.

Handsome John, a muscular movie-type kid, you see, is one of this country's finest all-around deaf athletes. And because of his many skills, American officials believe he will carry the nation's colors quite high in the world-wide competition for deaf athletes.

28 Nations Twenty-eight countries, including the Soviet Union, will send their best in the eight quadriennial affair. Tingley and about 30 American teammates will compete in track and field, swimming and basketball. Other sports on the Milan agenda are handball, shooting, cycling, soccer, gymnastics, tennis and ping pong.

Fifty first place medals—31 of them for track and field—will go to winners in the extravaganza. And you can count on young Tingley to bring home something for Uncle Sam. In fact, John may be the top entrant for the Red, White and Blue.

A statement by Tom Berg, coach of the U.S. track and field squad, should suffice. In a letter to Art Kruger, manager of the U.S. aggregation, Berg stated, "I'd rather have five John Tingleys than an ordinary trackman who is strictly a one-event performer."

In other words, the Broadmoor youth is regarded as a clutch performer in several events, not just a few.

Five Events John, at the request of Berg, has set his sights on five events at Milan. Knowing that Tingley excels in the 440, Berg is grooming John for a supreme effort in the 400 meter low hurdles, one of the toughest challenges in the sport. Only an all-around athlete can go in this event, since it takes a combination of speed and timing to master the thing.

Berg, remarking about Tingley's ability to handle the assignment, cited Glenn Davis, Ohio State's blazer who won the 400 meter hurdle crown in the '56 Olympics.

"Davis did the 100 in 9.7, the lows in 23-plus, the 440 just over 47 flat, and the broad jump at about 23 1/2 feet. This all-around skill made him great for the 400 meter lows."

Berg went on to predict similar success for Tingley. "We know this youngster is exceptional in many track events. That's why we'll give him the 400 lows job."

So blond John has his work cut out for him. He'll also go in the 400 meter run, 110 meter high hurdles, the broad jump, and maybe try the javelin.

Coach Speaks More words about Tingley's abilities. Dave Fraley, John's coach at the Berkeley School for the Deaf (California's largest), calls the Colman the most versatile track man he's handled in eight years of teaching there. John, winding up his ninth year at the Berkeley school, also ranks as an outstanding swimmer and football player. Besides the International Games, his next biggest thrill will be to enroll at Galaudet college in Washington, D.C., the nation's foremost school for deaf students. John wants to coach deaf kids like himself.

Four of John's teammates will accompany him to Milan. They, too, were standouts on the 1955 Berkeley school squad which swept the national title in track and field.

What Handicap? It's evident that deafness has proved no handicap for the accomplished son of Mr. and Mrs. John Tingley, 868 87th street, Dad Tingley a San Francisco grocery store owner, sums up his son succinctly:

"The boy has always been a good competitor and a fine sportsman. He hasn't let deafness hinder any aspect of his life."

Young John's mom, Betty, who helps pop run the store, and the lad's two cute sisters, Jennifer, 9, and Julie, 7, are full of enthusiasm and gratefulness.

So is John. And come August, he'll thank the folks who made his trip possible by doing his utmost in sunny Italy.

CHOP THOSE WEEDS, DC FATHERS ORDER

A weed abatement program to clean up eyesores like the Ocean Shore Railway right of way property in Westlake was called for by the city council Monday night.

The program will call for posting of weed abatement notices on Daly City's some 150 vacant lots. If property owners do not clean up the land themselves, the work will be carried out by the city and a lien placed against the property.

The action came as a result of a request by Col. Robert O. Stone of Westlake, who cited fire hazards and unsightliness of the Ocean Shore property.

SMILES of this happy Broadmoor family, the Tingleys of 868 87th street, are well justified. John Jr. (center) will represent the United States this summer in the International Games for the Deaf at Milan, Italy. Rated one of the nation's most versatile athletes, John's trip was made possible by contributions of folks throughout the area. Jubilant about the drive are parents Betty and John, and tots Jennifer and Julie.

Bees Bombarded Again On Northgate

For the umpteenth time in the past few months, Daly City Firemen this week were in the bee annihilation business.

The department was summoned to 190 Northgate Sunday by resident A. E. Meistor, who had a king-size cluster of hornets in his back yard.

Firemen "softened" up the bees with a blast from the fire extinguisher, then finished them off with a jolt from a fire hose.

Northgate has been plagued with bee trouble in past months because of its proximity to the golf links.

The world's record catch of channel catfish was made May 18, 1949 in the James River, South Dakota; 55 pounds, 30 inches long.

Westmoor Girls Boiled As Thieves

Westmoor High officials solved a "small change" locker theft operation last week by spending two freshman girls after they admitted making the bids the past month.

The girls, both 15 and Coast residents, confessed to police and Principal Glenn South, on their trail. The money, about $23 in all, was taken from lockers in the third period gym class. Parents have agreed to make restitution.

The youngest girl said she got the master key to the lockers a few weeks ago and never returned it.

Lectured by authorities and juvenile officers, the wayward pair are eligible to return to school next fall.

Help school held its annual fashion show, a colorful success with about 400 ladies in attendance.

The luncheon was served promptly at 1 p.m., and at 2:15 the first of the models made her appearance. Little Nancy Mosman came out dressed for a summer holiday in red pedal pushers and matching blouse.

Nancy was followed by other mothers chosen from the school and Mothers' club.

The hall was beautifully decorated by Rose Fair and Virginia Atkinson, with gay posters from all the holiday spots in the world. The tables were eye-catchers with their gaily colored straw pots and plants.

Guests were greeted by hostesses in pastel summer dresses.

Mrs. Lorraine Mignault was the commentator and everyone agreed she did a splendid job. Almost every member of the Mothers' club assisted in some capacity.

Mrs. Virginia Stanley, general chairman, thanked all who gave so generously of their support.

Mrs. Thomas A. Jovick went home a very happy woman with the silver blue mink stole. Mrs. Helen Tillman and Mrs. G. DeMartini both won merchandise orders from the two stores which sponsored the show.

Other ladies were happy with door prizes that Mrs. Betty Maschnick had gathered for the show.

Proceeds of this affair, as with all Mothers' club events, will go to benefit the school fund.

PROCLAIMED Mr. and Mrs. Bruce recently in Colma were Alice Nona Stephens, 716 Thornhill drive, and Bruce Bains Strand, of Oakland. The pair are residing in Oakland, where the new bride is a nursing student. Bruce is employed there in his father's business.

Girl Scouts Spend Worthwhile Weekend At Sonora Campsite

Forty-seven local Jr.-Hi Girl Scouts spent a recent weekend at Camp Sonora in the Mother Lode country. With six leaders and two senior aides, the group left Friday by chartered bus, and returned Sunday. Despite five inches of rain and perhaps because of it, they had an unusual time.

At the first break of sun, the Olympic-standard pool was used, and the trails filled with hikers. Improvised games and singing highlighted the hilarious weekend.

The trip was the first activity of the Jr.-Hi committee, which will band together seventh and eighth grade troops for many outside activities.

Six troops were presented by the committee, headed by Mrs. Spinnetti. Leaders assisting on the trip were Mesdames Smith, Heick, Peters, Davison and Duke.

LEVERONI HURLS TRIBE TO N.P.A.L. TITLE

Blingum Bobbles Decide It, 3-2; Jeff Battles M-A In PAL Playoff

Last-place Burlingame handed Jefferson's deserving Indians the North PAL baseball championship Tuesday afternoon by mugging a two-run lead and then failing to bother steady Eddie Leveroni the rest of the way.

Final count, 3-2, with Jeff piling up all tallies via Panther errors in the fourth, gave Steve Mezzera's club the flag by a margin of one game. The clincher was a fingernail-spraying affair, since had Jeff lost, four teams would have been knotted for the title.

Too Close

Thanks to Panther bobbles and another route-going job by Leveroni, the Daly City nine prevailed in one of the closest pennant fights in loop history. Capuchino, Hillsdale and San Mateo each finished with 7-5 marks. So near, yet so far from glory.

Jeff's champs now shoot the works for the PAL title, opening a best-of-three series this Friday against Menlo-Atherton, South PAL monarch, in a tilt at Flood park down south.

The second game is set at Jefferson next Tuesday afternoon at 3:15. Rubber match, if necessary, follows Friday next week, possibly at Fitzgerald field in San Mateo.

It's Traditional

Jeff nines have been in the playoffs since 1939, earning them a reputation as "the" baseball school on the Peninsula. For Mezzera, Tuesday's heartwarmer was a dilly. This was his first try as skipper. And the race almost turned his hair grey.

A sure-thing double play ball that hit a rock and bounced over Ino Patron's head at second to bring in two runs, ruined Leveroni's bid for the flag cinch Friday at Capuchino. The "freak" erased the Tribe's 2-1 lead and righter Gene Tagliaferri held on to decision the Indians.

Hillsdale lost ground the same day by losing to San Mateo, setting the stage for a "must" effort by Leveroni and company Tuesday.

Beats Southpaw Ed, who scattered seven hits against Cap, spread eight as he outlasted Blingum's surprising young lefty, Lee Moench. The Tribe backed Leveroni with seven hits, all singles.

In working his tenth complete game (6-4 record), Ed fanned five to wind up as North PAL, strikeout king. He whiffed 61 and walked but 22 as the outstanding hurler in the circuit. His earned run average is a stunning 1.90.

Big man in the Tuesday thriller was third sacker Leroy Franzosa. Forced to retire midway in the Cap tilt because of a pulled thigh muscle, Leroy was back on the job Tuesday with usual fire and accuracy.

The nod over Blingum, game of the year as far as Mezzera is concerned, was a team job. For certain, other coaches have agreed all along that Jefferson was the best in the pack. No doubt about it.

SCRIBES TO SELECT ALL-STAR SATURDAY

By Roy Hurlbert

Scribblers in the Peninsula Sportswriters Association go to the polls this Saturday to select the 1957 All-North PAL baseball team.

Jefferson's championship nine figures to dominate the list, according to scuttlebutt throughout the circuit and pennant winning heroics by Steve Mezzera's boys.

The scribes, meeting at the homestead of Bill Warden, Burlingame Advance-Star sports ed, will pick an 11-man first-team.

This talent list will be composed of eight fielders, two pitchers and a utility man—all the best via majority vote.

Due Credit

Alphabetically, Indians Barry Haanen, Ed Leveroni, Ino Patron, and Bill Strassburger are tabbed for top honors. Each played to the hilt en route to the flag.

Haanen, an all-around handy man and just a junior, and Patron, the pepper kid with quick hands and a deadly eye (also with another year left), were all-loop first teamers last year. This time their chances for repeat laurels are even more convincing.

Likewise, seniors Leveroni, the workhorse right-hander, and Strassburger, Brisbane's finest, are second to none this campaign. There's simply no doubt about it, with due respect to several other flashes in the close race. Ed and Bill, a diminutive battery, carried Mezzera's outfit right to the wire.

Any title-grabbing prep nine has to get the mostest from all in order to prevail. Sometimes batting stunts confuse the issue. So, using this premise,

Terry Nabs Pistol Honors

Officer Charles Terry, juvenile inspector, found the range for individual honors with a 266 score and the second platoon won the team title Sunday in the Daly City police department's third annual pistol championships in Colma.

Trophies, supplied by the Lions club, Henry Doelger, and merchants, went to Terry and all members of the winning shift team.

Terry's 266 was creditable marksmanship. Previous high guns were Jim Welsh (268 in '56) and Jim Sunderland (267 in '56). Top score is 300, something the boys just don't accomplish.

The winning platoon, with an aggregate of 1119 points, consisted of Dave Hansen, Sunderland, Richard Sims, Frank Warren, Gerald Schaefer, Steve Steen, George Brooks and Richard DeLoza.

Runner up in the team showdown was the motorcycle-inspectors unit of Ricco Benedetti, Hank Sundermann,

DC Drug 9 Decisions 2 Toughies

Although out-hit each time, Tom Bounellis, Daly City Drugs knocked over two top teams last weekend, taking St. Gabriel's Saturday at West Sunset, 11-8, and Pomona Tile Sunday at Marchbanks, 6-2.

The win for manager Lowell Creighton's kids over the Pomonans was his first over the Potlata playground lads in seven years.

Scoring seven times in the first inning, the Drugists breezed past the Saturday foe. The locals got only six hits, two of them by Mike O'Leary, and singles by Barry Krohn, Terry Christman, Bill Hynes and Mike Rovai.

Christman, George Claus and Billy Hix shared the mound work. The Saints rapped 12 hits off this trio.

Billy Ludwigsen got yeoman support in conquering Pomona Tile. Skipper Crudo's two-run double and a five-run first inning were the highlights.

Ludwigsen was slapped for 10 hits by Grove Moore's youngsters.

The Drug club entertained St. Cecilia's at Marchbanks this Thursday. Milano Inn is the next opponent Saturday morning at Balboa park. St. Brendan's meets the locals at Marchbanks this Sunday at 11 a.m.

This Golfer Won't Hit Par For Awhile

Someone with a yen for golf is well equipped today and Andrew Elipoulos, Westlake insurance agent, is pretty mad about it.

A potential hacker broke into Andy's two-door sedan, locked and parked in front of 55 Westhaven drive, Tuesday night. The invader got a whole bag of clubs and a half-dozen used balls.

Elipoulos estimated his loss in excess of $230. Quite a handicap for his game. Without the tools, that is.

Wayne Guisti's 79 was low for Jeff. His teammates: Al Harris, 87; Vic Shannon, 92, and Dave Scatena, 93.

Last season Orlich's squad lost the PAL crown by one stroke to Capuchino.

Westmoor's freshman-heavy unit trailed the field Monday. The promising Rams had a 371 total.

Tally for Mike Orlich's duffer was a 351. San Mateo stroked to the title with an aggregate 316. Keith Mattos and Hillsdale were second, while Burlingame and Capuchino placed third and fourth, respectively.

Jefferson's golfing Indians took fifth spot in the PAL championships Monday afternoon at San Jose Country Club.

18 Indian Tracksters Try Hollister Relays

Bob Watt will chaperon 18 Jefferson track and fielders southward this Friday for the annual Hollister Relays—windup action for the Daly City cinderclads.

The Tribe's three entries in the North Coast Section finale at Berkeley Saturday failed to qualify for the state championships.

Senior Jeff Chase, one of the four best vaulters in the PAL, tied for fifth at Berkeley. He did about 12-2.

Solid Sophs Watt's dynamic sophomores,

Felix Valdez and Len Lamendola, simply were outclassed by lads with about two months' experience. Fact Felix and Len got to the finals a tribute to their potential.

Big disappointment came in Valdez' race, the 1320, as officials claimed he cut to the inside too quickly. They nullified his fourth place finish. Watt said all runners broke lanes at the same time, and he's still grumbling about the ruling.

Lamendola found his Northern California, too swift. He was close in the bunch finish.

Going for Jeff at Hollister will be four relay units plus Watt's best in six individual events.

The Competitors

Sonny Martinez, whose flat heads the PAL, goes in the century. Dennis Marc will be in the high jump, and Arnold Pollard the broad jump. Jim Farley and Bill Marti will hurl the discus, and Boy Hillier joins Farley in the shot put.

The relayers as follows: (440) — Pollard - John Maragoni - Irwin Wong-Martinez. (880) — Pollard - Lamendola - Dan Miceli - Martinez. (mile) — Lamendola - Ted Sailor - Reed Grandy - Miceli. (2 mile) — Andy Estigoy - Charlie Rivera - Al Davila - Valdez.

Senior Dave Calloway pulled a muscle last week or he would have made the trip.

50 HIGH COEDS ACTIVE IN CITY VOLLEYBALL LOOP

First annual School Gals Volleyball League is off to a roaring start, according to word today from Dee R. Van Nest, city director of park and recreation.

Six teams, composed of some 50 girls from Jefferson and Westmoor High, are engaged in the action each week at Wa Memorial building. Next games are set for Tuesday night at 7:15 o'clock.

Undeafated to date are the Golds and Stars, while the 'Cats and Bermuda Babes are 1-1, and the Reds and Clowns are winless in two starts.

Lodgers, Shoppers In Softball Playoff

Westlake Lodge's softballers earned a sudden-death playoff shot at Westlake Shopping Center last Sunday by pouncing Our Lady of Mercy's men, 12-1, while the Richfield gassers blew the duke to Val's, 4-2.

Date of the clincher between the two split-season winners has not been set, according to Franklin August Monte, the old Alaska fisherman-turned-businessman.

150 Golfers (?) Await C of C Meet

A field of 150 golfers will vie in three flights next Thursday as the third annual Daly City Chamber of Commerce tournament gets underway.

The annual frolic will feature several name golfers, as well as an abundance of perennial duffers.

To compensate for the wide range in links ability, play will be held in three flights, with prizes for low net and low gross in each division and a blind bogey event. In addition, a hole-in-one contest will be featured.

The $10 tariff for the event covers the 18 holes of golf and the gala dinner that winds up the annual hoedown.

A total of 40 prizes will be awarded, meaning that one gofer in three will take home a bauble of some sort for the mantle.

Among top entries are restaurateur Ed Castagnetto, former San Francisco city and Northern California champ, bocce ball impresario Bob

Summer Swimming Signups Stupendous

Two days before last Friday's deadline, Director Mike Orlich had enough entries to fill his Jefferson High summer swim schedule.

"We'll go way over last year's turnout of 2100 people," he told THE RECORD. "Right now, I'm thinking about adding a few more classes."

The program opens June 17 and ends August 23.

Rams Travel, Too! Coach Ernie Ribera and a few select Westmoor High trackmen will accompany the Jefferson squad to the Hollister Relays this Friday.

Names of Rams entered were not known at press time, since Ribera was not available for comment.
